

BECOMING A YEF IN YOKKAICHI, JAPAN

Overview:

The Yokkaichi English Fellows (YEF) Program has been built on a 50 year relationship between Long Beach, California and Yokkaichi, Japan. Through our program, junior high school students throughout the city receive a more well-rounded education thanks to frequent exposure to teachers of different backgrounds from the United States. Our teaching strategy aims to provide semi-immersive language instruction based on teamwork between the YEFs and Japanese Teachers of English (JTEs) inside the classroom and out. The city of Yokkaichi now employs eight YEFs who work to strengthen the language program in local middle schools as Assistant Language Teachers (ALTs). A YEF will act as a resource and provide special assistance to local Japanese Teachers of English (JTEs) in regard to teaching oral conversation skills and in-depth cultural content. YEFs will visit English language classes in the 22 public junior high schools and, occasionally, public kindergartens, to act as an assistant; designing lesson materials, making presentations about U.S. culture, and providing a model of English oral language skills. A YEF may also be asked to work directly with the JTEs to assist in their language skill development, complete administrative tasks or to contribute to city office projects in line with their abilities and interests. Some examples include: translation work, video production, and curriculum design.

Successful YEF teachers are friendly and enthusiastic when working with young children. They are quick learners who effectively apply their training in their school placements. Most importantly, YEFs are adaptable and flexible to expectations inside and outside of the workplace in Japan.

Contract

The initial contract is for two years. After 5-6 months YEFs will be reviewed for re-contracting eligibility. YEFs can re-contract up to 4 years.

Working Hours

YEFs work 5-days a week M-F 8:30 AM-4:15 PM.

Monthly Salary

YEFs receive a first year monthly salary of 300,000 yen before taxes and deductions. An annual tiered salary increase is structured for eligible, re-contracted YEFs.

Overtime

Based on the needs of the placement school, YEFs may be requested to work overtime (attending clubs, meetings, etc.). In most cases, attendance is optional, but strongly encouraged. Overtime is not reflected in the monthly salary.

Vacations and Holidays

Vacation leave will be in accordance with Yokkaichi City Policy. All Japanese national holidays that occur on a regular workday are paid days off. YEFs also receive additional vacation periods at designated times throughout the year. Vacations outside of designated periods must be approved in advance.

They will also attend training sessions for local Japanese teachers on English education. Follow-up training exercises are conducted throughout the contract period.

Social Insurance and Pension

YEFs are enrolled in the Japanese Social Insurance System (Shakai Hoken) providing comprehensive health insurance and employment insurance. Approximately 49,000 yen is deducted from the monthly salary for enrollment fees. However, this expense will be refunded upon departure from Japan if applied for. Full or partial refund will be determined based on the policies set by the Ministry of Finance.

Transportation

Round-trip airfare between Los Angeles and Japan is provided by the YEF Program. Travel to and from school is reimbursed by the Yokkaichi City Hall Office. Ground transportation to personal functions are the responsibility of the YEF. YEFs are not permitted to drive. However, a bicycle is provided to them upon arrival in Yokkaichi.
